Undergraduate Scholarships
2015-2016
The UCLA Henry Samueli School of Engineering and Applied Science is proud to offer the scholarships listed in this booklet to our outstanding undergraduate students.

We could not do so without the extraordinary generosity of our alumni, parents, friends, faculty members and industry partners. Working together, in 2014-15 we offered more than 115 scholarships to undergraduates, recognizing their academic excellence and assisting them in paying for their education.

UCLA Engineering is one of the premiere engineering schools in the world, providing a rigorous, cross-disciplinary education that prepares students to be leaders in technology and society. Creating opportunities for promising students of limited means and from a wide variety of backgrounds is an important tool in ensuring our continued success in education, research and service.

The scholarships listed here bear the names of many generous supporters. On behalf of the school, I want to thank all of our scholarship donors for opening the door for the next generation of engineering innovators and leaders to emerge from UCLA.

Sincerely,

Vijay K. Dhir
Dean
